

BEN STANLEY LOSES IN S. C. CO. INCOMPETENCY PROCEEDINGS

Judge Gosbey Rules in Favor of E. F. Fitzpatrick and Commends Management of Barney Estate

The proceedings brought in the superior court of Santa Clara county last year by Benjamin Stanley to have his grandmother, Mrs. B. A. Barney of Palo Alto, declared incompetent and to have a guardian appointed, were dismissed by Judge Gosbey in open court last Thursday after a bitter legal battle waged by Stanley.

Stanley in bringing proceedings alleged fraud on the part of Mrs. Barney's attorney and confidential agent, E. F. Fitzpatrick. Judge Gosbey in dismissing the case thoroughly vindicated Judge Fitzpatrick in all his business transactions with Mrs. Barney. The judge from the bench delivered a lengthy opinion and took occasion to commend Judge Fitzpatrick in protecting the interests of his client.

The court declared that Mrs. Barney had confidence in her attorney, was satisfied with his management of her estate and that if the property were his own it could not have been more carefully managed. All the accounts submitted to him demonstrated care and showed that everything done by Mr. Fitzpatrick was for the very best interests of the estate.

Stanley has dissipated the estate left him by his mother and has been in very hard straits for some years and has made trouble for his aged grandmother.

Some years ago Mrs. Barney declared she would treat Stanley like one of her immediate family if he would abandon his wild ways, but he could not tread the straight and narrow path and continually harassed his grandmother for funds. He secured an attorney named Bush to bring the guardianship proceedings that have been dismissed. What his next move will be is a matter of conjecture.

MILBRAE HOLSTEINS MAKE FINE SHOWING

In the latest "Reported Tests of Holstein-Friesian Cows," published bi-weekly by Malcolm H. Gardner at Delavan, Wis., superintendent of advisory registry of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, the Milbrae dairy of Milbrae has two of its pure bred registered Holsteins listed.

Their best cow, Adella Netherland of Milbrae, is reported as having at the age of three years and eleven months a record of 539.1 pounds of milk and 18.44 pounds of butter fat, in seven days, equivalent to 23 pounds of butter.

Their other cow, Sleepy Barillos Pontiac, made a record in seven days at the age of three years and four months of 420.6 pounds of milk and 18.813 pounds of butter fat, equivalent to 21 pounds of butter. Tests of this kind are supervised by one or more representatives from the dairy division of the college of agriculture, present at each feeding and milking, to weigh the milk and test it for butter fat content. A duplicate sample of this milk is forwarded to the state college, where a careful check is made before the record is reported.

The champion Holstein for California in the senior 3-year-old class for seven days of production is Hollywood Lith Pontiac, whose record of 519.4 pounds of milk and 28.966 pounds of butter fat, equivalent to 36.2 pounds of butter, surpasses all others, according to the records of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This record production was made at the W. J. Higdon farm at Tulare, Cal.

The state championship in the junior 3-year-old class is credited to Miss Valley Mead De Kol Walker, whose 7-day record is 688.6 pounds of milk and 29.446 pounds of butter fat, equivalent to 36.8 pounds of butter. This record was made at the Santa Anita rancho, Santa Anita, Cal.

Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, is president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This association has a membership of over 20,000 breeders in the United States and is the largest pure bred cattle association in the world, representing over 500,000 pure bred animals.

FACTORY SITES TO BE PROVIDED ON OLD SWEENEY RANCH

Chamber of Commerce Discusses Many Matters of Great Interest to Local Progress

There was a big gathering of the members of the chamber of commerce at headquarters Wednesday evening. Many important matters were taken up and discussed and some disposed of. President Frank K. Towne was present and opened the meeting with a neat address.

The question of extending Broadway to Walnut street was debated at some length. A committee was appointed to look into the matter and to ascertain the price of the Wahl block. The street would have to be constructed over the land on which the building is located. This is quite an undertaking, but it is absolutely essential for the benefit of the city's growth. The extension of the street would open up a thriving section and connect with avenues of business.

The matter of discontinuing the 5-cent toll by the telephone company to Atherton and Menlo Park was taken up with the company's officials who were present. They discussed the question from every angle, but gave little hope of the city securing the reduction.

It was stated at the meeting that the postoffice would comply with the chamber's request and after the first of the month dispatch mail to San Francisco from Redwood City at 7 o'clock in the morning instead of at 9 o'clock.

The matter of forming a syndicate to purchase 140 acres of the Sweeney ranch for factory sites was brought up and debated. Over $10,000 was pledged at the meeting for this purpose. The remainder of the funds can be easily raised. It is believed that the land could be resold in a short time for industrial purposes. The chamber wants to have the land so that when an intending purchaser comes along it may be in a position to close a deal at once. The chamber is heartily in favor of the plan.

The chamber endorsed the position of the railroad company in refusing to open Channel street in San Francisco for a drawbridge. It also went on record as favoring the Mason-Weich scheme of peninsula development.

SEQUOIA WINNING

The Sequoia 130-pound team captured another victory when it defeated the South City team by a score of 30 to 8. Despite the fact that several of the first string men were suffering from colds the team displayed its usual fighting spirit. The first half was rather ragged, but the last half proved to be more interesting. The 130-pounders are now leading for the league championship while the uninitiated are tied with San Jose. South City forfeited the unlimited game to Sequoia.

Santa Clara is Sequoia's latest opponent and the outcome of the games was not known before this went to press. Watch Sequoia's remaining games of the P. A. L. and root for two champion teams.

R. H. THOMPSON WILL IGNORES EXISTENCE OF TWO FORMER WIVES

Numerous Bequests Made to Hospitals and Heirs by Redwood City Retired Banker

Attorneys Cushing & Cushing of San Francisco have filed the last will and testament of Robert H. Thompson, who died at his home at 138 Stratford avenue, Wellesley Park, Redwood City, February 9, 1922, for probate. The will was executed on January 10, 1921. The value of the estate is not known, but it will exceed the sum of $350,000. It comprises real estate, stocks, bonds and other securities.

St. Vincent's Hospital, Portland, Ore., is left $1,000; the Portland babies' home, $1,000, and an old friend—W. E. Day of Portland, $1,000. To his widow, Janet Thompson, is left half the residue and the other half is left to the Federal Trust Company as trustee.

Provisions of the trust clause say Hannah R. Livingston of New York shall receive $25 per month during her lifetime and that Mrs. John H.

Lang of Bellingham, Wash., shall receive $50 a month for life. It then provides that such sums as are necessary for the support, care and education of Robert R. Henry Thompson shall be paid until he becomes of age. From 21 to 23 he is to receive $100 a month and from 23 to 28 he is to receive $200 a month. From 28 to the time he is 35 until he becomes 35 years of age he is to receive the income from the trust fund, at which time, if he is still living, the estate is to be turned over to him with the exception of a sufficient amount to pay the lifetime bequests, if those beneficiaries are still living.

The will states the maker has intentionally omitted to leave anything to his two former wives. The petition of the trust company will be heard in the superior court on Thursday, March 2.

COUNTY TREE EXPERT ADVISES SPRAYING NOW

In his report to the supervisors for the month of January Horticultural Commissioner Tate calls particular attention to the necessity of spraying peach trees this month for the prevention of curl leaf.

Curl leaf is a fungous disease that attacks the leaves and sometimes the short tips of peaches and some other stone fruits, causing them to become ruffled and much thickened. Later they become powdery, fade and drop early, weakening the tree through the loss of foliage as well as destroying much of the crop. The trouble has been quite prevalent throughout the county and many inquiries have been received at the commissioner's office for methods of control. Mr. Tate states that the proper time to spray for this disease is when the buds are swelling, just before they commence to open. This is likely to occur, weather being favorable, the latter part of this month.

It is advised to spray apples and pears during February also, for the control of scab and scale. The ideal time to spray pear trees for scab is just as the "cluster buds" are opening. Bordeaux mixture and lime-sulphur are both effective sprays for curl leaf and scab, but Commissioner Tate recommends the lime-sulphur, as it also controls the scale which is present in a great many orchards.

Anyone who was troubled last season with curl leaf or scab on the apples or pears should get in touch with the horticultural commissioner and be advised as to the time and proper strength to apply the spray. Mr. Tate will gladly call upon anyone desiring his services.

The head of the family has had to do a lot of footwork in the last year to keep his creditors at arm's length.

$300,000.00 FIRE!

THE BONUS AND TAXATION

For the men who served this nation in its time of need the American people entertain feelings of the deepest appreciation and gratitude. The Republican party, as the present authorized spokesman of the American people, has endeavored to give expression to that nation wide spirit. It is true that for two years or more after the armistice there was a manifest failure to adequately care for those who were injured or were disabled through disease, but this was not due to lack of sympathy or recognition of the obligation that rests upon the nation. The administration then in power was delinquent in preparation for peace as it had been in preparation for war and the returning soldiers found no proper provisions for their care. Immediately upon taking charge of the administration of the government in 1921 the Republicans began measures of soldier relief and rehabilitation agencies and made larger provision for hospitals and vocational training. The need of all this should have been readily apparent long before the war was brought to a close and adequate hospital service should have been ready in advance of return of the crippled and disabled.

With few exceptions the returned soldiers fully understand the actual situation and know that delay in caring for the injured was not an evidence of lack of appreciation on the part of the people. They know the record of the Democratic administration for mismanagement from beginning to end and they do not hold the nation in general responsible.

In its endeavor to manifest its gratitude toward the veterans the Republican administration does not believe in the policy expressed by the well known advertising slogan, "Say it with flowers." So far as the money can voice their acknowledgments the American people are willing to "say it with dollars." No one assumes, however, that the measure of our gratitude can be expressed in dollars or that the veterans will so accept it. Such an assumption would be an insult not only to the veterans but to all the people. So-called "bonus" legislation, or "adjusted compensation" is not an attempt to pay the veterans for their services—it is an effort to render additional help to those who need help in getting "back to normal."

When the nation has done all that it can do, it will have fallen far short of what it would like to do. In an undertaking of such large proportions there are limits determined by economic laws beyond which the nation cannot go without a reaction which would do the soldiers more harm than good. To pay adjusted compensation necessitates raising an enormous sum of money and the only way to raise money is through taxation. Taxation must eventually fall upon producers and when taxation passes certain limits it becomes repressive of production and injures the whole nation, the soldiers among the rest. It would little profit a returned soldier to be paid a bonus if the taxation measure destroyed the profits of the industry in which he had been employed and eventually cut off more from his salary than he received in bonus. This is a feature of the problem to which thoughtful and irresponsible people would give no heed, but which national legislators must keep constantly in mind.

Passing a bonus law means passing a tax law. Every man who supports a bonus must, if he is honest, also support a tax. The question before congress today, therefore, is not one of patriotism or of gratitude, but the intensely practical task of devising a tax that will produce revenue for a bonus without doing more harm than good.

POLITICS WAS ADJOURNED

One of the notable incidents in connection with the recent agricultural conference in Washington was the interview given by William J. Bryan in which he said that the country holds the Republican party responsible for the financial depression in which the farmer now finds himself. As a matter of fact, there was not a word spoken at the conference which indicated any such feeling. On the contrary, where there was any direct inferential criticism of government policies, the criticism was directed at acts of the previous administration, under which the big slump in farm prices occurred.

STERLING UP

Dispatches from London tell us that the British are not entirely pleased with the rise in the rate of sterling exchange for the reason that this rise makes it easier for America to sell and harder for Britain to sell goods here. As a matter of fact, the rise in exchange has been due to a steadily improving balance in favor of Great Britain in her foreign trade. The rise in sterling exchange is all the evidence that is necessary to demonstrate the ability of Great Britain to pay her debt to the United States, with interest due.

A farmer's wife would be pretty dull if it weren't for the fun he gets out of watching the town farmer's experiments.

BUYING THE WATER WORKS

The city trustees will probably ask the voters of Redwood City to decide whether it will be best to buy the plant of the water works company. The company pumps the supply to the surface, then sells to the city, which in turn disposes of water to consumers and collects from them. Under this arrangement the company is guaranteed against loss so long as the price charged the city is sufficient to pay operating expenses and a fair return on investment. As it has been operating for a considerable period under this plan it has paid dividends sufficient to reimburse the original investors for all they put into the venture and something besides.

It will not be long before conditions are changed. The stockholders understand this and desire to get out of the business. Naturally they do not want to lose on closing up the business. What will cause the difference is the fact that San Francisco's water supply from the Hetch Hetchy enterprise will go through Redwood City. It will be immense in volume, more than needed for use in the big city, so some of it must be sold to outsiders. The shorter distance it must flow, the less expense of maintenance. So Redwood City will undoubtedly be given an opportunity to bid for a share of this surplus water. That it will be excellent in quality goes without saying, while its perpetuity is assured from the fact that it will be drawn from the over renewed supply in the Sierras.

Another factor to be considered is the diminution of water supply for irrigation purposes on the peninsula. Over in Santa Clara county the fruit growers and others are very much worried over the lowering water level. It the first days of orcharding the wells flowed freely, the water coming to the surface. But the number of wells has increased tremendously, drawing on the underground flow more and more until the wells must be pumped to get the precious fluid for use in farming. Fruit acreage is increasing all the time, demanding more and more water and the level from which the water must be raised is lowering all the time. That condition will come to Santa Mateo county as well, as the county increases in population and multiplies its activities. So in time the wells from which the Redwood City water supply is being drawn will have to be abandoned because the expense of raising the water to the surface will be prohibitive.

So it will be for voters to decide if it is wise to buy a plant that will have to be abandoned ultimately at a loss or make arrangements in advance for sharing the advantages of the permanent supply from the San Francisco venture. The situation is in some respects similar to that at Los Angeles. There the far-sighted city fathers put in a long aqueduct and secured a water supply more than ample for the city's needs. The towns along the line of the waterway have entered into arrangements for part of the supply. In this way they have made provision for a long time to come. The question will be up for Redwood City voters to decide. Naturally they are not inclined to take action that would be injurious to fellow citizens who have been conducting a legitimate enterprise. No ill will is felt against the company or its stockholders. It is simply a question of whether the interests of the public in general, or those of a private corporation are paramount.

A FINE STARTER

American Legion posts of San Mateo and Santa Clara counties have decided on an organization of the two counties so that every post may be assigned some duty in connection with caring for veterans at the base hospital at Menlo Park. That's fine. Several weeks ago the Times-Gazette urged that all agencies in this section get together for this very purpose. From San Francisco to Santa Cruz there are thousands of people who need only to have their attention directed to this matter to gain their hearty co-operation. To be sure the Legioners and other good people within a radius of 20 miles of the hospital are mindful of their obligations and readily take advantage of numerous opportunities of doing good along this line. But at best their efforts are spasmodic, intermittent and hardly adequate to the need that is apparent. When the hospital shall have been enlarged to more than double its present capacity it is evident that there will be much more to be done. The people in the immediate vicinity cannot do it all. Out-siders will help in the future as they do now, willingly and cheerfully, but irregularly. So it will be very necessary that the work be organized and the interest of thousands enlisted. All agencies having anything to do in this line should get together under one general head; then the special duties can be assigned to particular groups and localities and these held responsible for what must be done. When a fellow knows a certain thing is expected of him he will be pretty apt to perform the duty assigned, especially when it is of this particular nature. If it is left for him to volunteer the chances are he will not remember.

The American Legion combination will take in every post from South San Francisco to Gilroy. It is made up of almost a score of local branches of this patriotic organization. The boys at the hospital will be looked after just as carefully as the facilities of the Legioners will permit. But those boys can't do it all. It is up to other appreciative people to get together now, plan for the future and be right on hand when the call for assistance shall be made.

THE FOREIGN DEBTS

Appreciation of the leadership displayed by Senator Samuel M. Shortridge of California at the Republican caucus held recently on the funding of the allied debt by the upper house is expressed in the following editorial appearing in the newspaper Bonanza, published at Tonopah, Nev. "California is ably represented in the upper house of congress in the person of Samuel Shortridge. This was truly evidenced at a recent meeting of the Republican caucus on the funding of the allied debt. It became necessary for the New York newspapers to reach official Washington before the inside history of what happened in this caucus became generally known, but they show that it was none other than Senator Shortridge who presented the solution of this vexing problem and which was finally accepted as the official Republican program by a vote of 22 to 8.

The result of the activities of Senator Shortridge means that the interest rate on the bonds of the different foreign countries shall not be lower than that paid by this government on Liberty bonds.

One motion would have fixed the interest rate to Great Britain at one figure and the interest of France and Belgium at another. Still another would have left the matter of interest to a commission. Shortridge rose and declared that all of these methods were wrong not only morally, but politically unwise. He held the caucus for 20 minutes while he advocated that the bond interest be fixed arbitrarily at the same amount of interest being paid by the United States on the Liberty bonds sold to make the loans to the various nations.

"We had to go out and borrow the money to loan them," he said. "Now let them pay us the same rate of interest that we have to pay our creditors."

JACKIE COOGAN SHIMMIES WITH MONKEY PARTNER

He Waves a Wicked Hip for Laughing Purposes Only

Jackie Coogan does the "shimmy" in his latest picture, "My Boy," an Associated First National attraction which is coming to the Sequoia Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, February 20 and 21. And the manner in which he does it will bring shrieks of laughter from anyone who sees it. Jackie Blair, the part this little actor plays in the picture, is on his way to a drug store to get a prescription filled for his friend and benefactor, the captain, who is confined to his bed with rheumatism. Now Jackie didn't have a cent with which to pay for the medicine, but he was hoping for fate to supply him with the funds.

On his way he stopped to watch an organ grinder's monkey go through his tricks for the benefit of the crowd of onlookers. When coins were tossed at the monkey Jackie got an idea, jumped within the circle and started to dance to the music of the organ.

Somewhere or other Jackie had learned to "shimmy," and he employed his knowledge to good stead. His efforts along that line were so successful that his cap was filled with money in a short time. But the Italian grobbed all dough and tried to escape with it. The manner in which Jackie gets his share of the proceeds of the entertainment furnishes delightful humor.

ENGAGEMENT OF VIVA HALL ANNOUNCED SATURDAY

An interesting surprise was offered to the friends of Miss Viva Hall when she announced her engagement to Robert Place of Bakersfield Saturday night at an informal party. Guests from Bakersfield and Mountain View were among the jolly crowd who congratulated the pair. Music, games and dancing helped to make the party a success and a dainty supper was served at midnight, at which Joe Tucker presided as toastmaster.

The date of the wedding was not announced, but it is rumored that the late summer will be the time chosen.

A rich man may become accustomed to poverty, but a poor woman can't get accustomed to riches. All that Joseph's coat of many colors ever got him was trouble.

MENLO PARK NEWS

Harold Kurtz, Edward Lawlor and Frank Peely, bright high school boys, are detailed at their respective homes with illness. The boys are attending high school at Redwood City.

During the heavy storm Wednesday the big plate glass doors at the entrance to the Triumph Cafe were blown down. Other damages were done in town by the gale. Signs were blown from their fastenings and scattered over the streets. Nothing of a serious nature, however, has been reported.

George Loone, for the past five years chief chauffeur for the Misses Meyer, the daughters of the late J. Henry Meyer, has resigned to accept a position at Burlingame, to which place the family will move shortly. The young son of Mr. Loone will take his place at the Meyer home.

M. W. Allen, who has occupied the O'Grady residence opposite the railroad station, is erecting a bungalow at Burlingame and will move to the Queen City very soon.

Dennis Mers, the poet, is quite ill at his home at Redwood City. His wife has been sick for some weeks. His attention to her has caused his own sickness. He is confined to his apartment. His friends are much alarmed over the serious turn of his ailment.

Considerable property was sold in the Johnson tract this week. All the front lots and a big portion of the rear lots have been disposed of. That part of the tract occupied by Mrs. McKnight, consisting of an acre, has been given to her by the trustees of Mary's Help Hospital. Mrs. McKnight has leased the property for over 40 years and has paid the owners thousands of dollars in rent.

The recent rains have filled up Lake Calabazas at the Southern Pacific station so that duck shooting is splendid and all local lake fishermen are looking forward to good trout fishing in the spring.

The new high school bus made its first appearance on Monday. It has a capacity of 30 passengers, but at present only 20 pupils are riding in it. After a short time the vehicle will be loaded to capacity. It takes on the pupils at Duff & Doyle's store and also makes a stop in front of the residence of John O'Farrell at Atherton. The bus leaves here at 8 in the morning and starts from the high school building at Redwood City at 8 in the afternoon. Parents need have no worry, as the vehicle is in charge of a very competent driver, Thomas Heydenfeldt, who looks after his charge with care and he is a young man who fully realizes his responsibilities.

On Sunday last a party of young people from Menlo Park, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Midgley, motored to Mount Hamilton to enjoy the snow there. Many of the young folks had never seen snow before and it was indeed a revelation to them to throw snowballs and indulge in other pastimes. Kodaks were kept busy taking views and many beautiful scenes were obtained. Beans, "hot dogs," cake and coffee were relished by the party on the lofty snowcapped mountain. Plans were laid for another excursion. The party was made up of Irene Carter, Esther Carter, Bertha Agard, Dorothy Lampard, Lucie Bentley, Erma Hanson, Katherine Carleton, Lorine Schenck, John Reynard, Leslie Lampard, George Angus, Henry Agard, Brooks Hinds, Roland Midgley and Edwin Smith.

J. C. Lowe, at one time chief gardener and greenhouse man for the Lynch nurseries, and well known here, is now a wealthy fur buyer and merchant of Dillingham, Bristol Bay, Alaska. He has stores at Snag Point, Togiak, Kalukuk, Egushik and Ekwak, Alaska. He is unmarried. Girls, get in communication with this wealthy bachelor.

James H. Livermore, who became famous as the owner of a grocery store and road house on the La Honda road, known as "Upenut," passed away at his home at Menlo Heights last Monday evening. Before closing of the road to La Honda Livermore had conducted the resort for 20 years. It was a resort for the hunters and fishermen. After closing the establishment Livermore moved to Menlo Park, engaging in the chicken business. Heart trouble was the cause of death. The funeral took place from the parlors of the Redwood City Undertaking Company Thursday afternoon. Interment was in Cypress Lawn cemetery.

Livermore was a native of Wisconsin and was 63 years of age. He came to California about 40 years ago, settling first at Pleasanton and conducting a meat market. A brother and sister survive.

The San Francisco creek was over half full yesterday. The heavy rains of Thursday and yesterday swelled the stream. This is the first time this season that water flowed. Heretofore the water has been turned into the Stanford lake, which is now full. The big ditch near Atherton which drains the western part of that section was flowing for the first time during this season.

Harry Doughty, proprietor of the Menlo meat market, yesterday purchased the Edward Lawlor property, having a frontage of 50 feet on the main street and a depth of 112 feet. It is said that the sum of $3,000 was paid for the choice business lot. Mr. Doughty is shortly to begin the erection of a two-story building to cost $12,000. The dwelling on the property will be removed to a lot purchased by Mr. Lawlor on Santa Cruz avenue near the store of Mr. Brown. The building was the first erected in Menlo Park and is an old landmark. It was built in the sixties by the late Andrew Lawlor. Mr. Doughty will prepare plans next week for the new building. One of the lower stores will be occupied by an up to date meat market. Mr. Doughty's growing business necessitated larger quarters. The contented structure will be a credit to Menlo Park.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crandall have returned to Menlo Park after a year's visit in China and are occupying the John Belmont bungalow formerly occupied by Mrs. Helen Bascom. Mr. Crandall will be a neighbor of H. C. Lucas, the state inheritance tax attorney, who is now occupying another of the Belmont bungalows. Mr. Lucas was well known here during his college days at Stanford.

A boy used to be started off to college accompanied by the prayers of his family; now he is started off accompanied by a 60-miles-an-hour roadster.
